UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The bill (war) to secure the better protection of life and property. Mr. Hodnett spoke to some length in opposition to the bill. He thought the adoption of his resolution drafting an address to the people of the State, appealing to them to preserve peace and good order would have a much better effect than the adoption of this bill.

Mr. Hodnett continued to some length in portraying not only the unconstitutionality of the bill but the bad and disastrous of the State, so help me God. effects which would most probably follow

Mr. Shaver opposed the bill at length. Mr. Smith, of Martin, next spoke in support of the bill. Mr. Candler (Republican) opposed the bill and thought that if the good people of both parties would unite in frowning down | tie Road | Capital $400,000, may be inall outrages, that no outrages would be committed. This bill was putting too knew the people were opposed to such a bill. No proof had been produced to show the track. that the execution of the law had been resisted in any single county of the State .-No civil officer had proclaimed his inability to enforce the law. He opposed the 3d section of the bill which gave the Solicitor so much power. This was setting a precedent dangerous to the liberties of the people, and should at once be voted down .-There was too much bitterness between the two parties, and this bill was the result of

Mr. Downing argued in favor of the bill. He used the same line of argument employed at the introduction of the bill, and during his argument detailed how colored voters had been intimidated in Asheville, and one of them shot down in the streets of Asheville at an election.

Mr. Candler, (Republican) Representative of Buncombe county, said that that matter had been thoroughly investigated and he (Candler) had been informed by is anxious to make known to his fellow-suffer- be sent to any address on receipt of 50 cts. He (Candler) thought the blame was equally divided.

Mr. Welch next took the floor in opposition to the bill. He also stated the facts in relation to the alleged outrages at Asheville. He took up the bill section by section, and discussed its merits in a legal and constitutional point of view, and portrayed the bad effects the bill, it passed, the bill. would most likely have.

He charged that it was designed to inple against the whites.

His speech was replaced in the hands of parties who had abused the trust in a most shameful manner. Mr. Downing characterized the movement as direct repudiation, and put into motion by certain parties to break down the Republican party.

During his remarks Mr. Welch asked him (Downing) if the Treasurer was not paying interest on the Penitentiary bonds. Mr. Downing -I do not know; you had better ask the Treasurer.

Mr. Welch, I have been reliably informed by a member of the House, that interest is being paid on these bonds.

Mr. Moore, of Chowan, said that for his own information, he had sent to the Treasurer to ascertain the facts in regard to the interest on the special tax bonds, and had just been informed that while they were debating this resolution, the holders of coupous were drawing very rapidly, he therefore, thought it important to concur in the passage of the resolution immediately. It was only a temporary injunction on the Treasurer; they could hereafter pay the bona fide holders,
